

COMMANDING OFFICER
FIELD MEDICAL TRAINING BATTALION – EAST
SAFETY POLICY STATEMENT

You are all vital to the command and the success of the mission. The loss of any personnel or equipment degrades our ability to carry out the mission and can affect the welfare and morale of the whole command.

Every Marine, Sailor, Civilian, and student in the command is a leader and is responsible for the safety of self and all those in their professional and personal lives. We will cultivate a command culture of safety – utilizing Operational Risk Management, Force Preservation, and direct mentorship to proactively identify and mitigate potential and actual hazard and risk.

Every Marine, Sailor, Civilian, student, and family member is the most valuable asset and top priority in the command. We will all do our best to preserve that precious resource.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'J. J. Repass', is located below the text.

J. J. REPASS
CAPT USN
Commanding Officer