

TRAINING AND EDUCATION COMMAND SAFETY POLICY STATEMENT

Our mission is to “lead the Marine Corps Training and Education continuum from individual entry-level training, professional military education and continuous professional development, through unit, collective, and service-level training in order to produce warfighters and enhance warfighting organizations that enable the Fleet Marine Force to build and sustain the combat readiness required to fight and win today and in the future.” This mission sets a high bar and we welcome the challenge. Inherent in this challenge is a mindset to execute this mission as intended, as trained, and with safe operating practices at hand whether on or off duty.

In today’s environment there is no room for reckless behavior as it jeopardizes our readiness. No task is worth the loss of life, serious injury, or loss of equipment because of mistakes and/or complacency. Safety practices requires all of us to take responsibility and to be accountable for our actions.

I expect all commanders to employ innovative approaches to safety that compliment proactive planning and the application of risk management principles, coupled with engaged-competent leadership that empowers subordinates to make timely risk decisions. This can be accomplished through realistic training, sincere mentorship, and sound guidance.

For all of us, dedicated leadership and resolute vigilance is the key to mishap-free mission execution. As part of the TECOM family, I invite you to accept this challenge and adopt a safety stance that quickly corrects any shortfalls and encourages success.

LEWIS A. CRAPAROTTA

Lieutenant General, United State Marine Corps
Commanding General, Training and Education Command